I'm a Medic - Get Me Out of Here!

Encourage your students to consider healthcare careers

I'm a Medic, Get Me Out of Here connects school students with people working in healthcare. Students can learn about the diversity of job roles in the NHS and see how science and healthcare is relevant to them.

“I learned that there are over 350 jobs at the NHS... there could be a job for all kinds of people which increases the chance of me working there when I'm older”

Student

What teachers say:

“Incredibly easy to set up and run.”

“My students loved their involvement and I was amazed at some of the questions they asked.”

Students can:

Chat with healthcare workers in real time

Learn more about different career paths in the NHS

See science and healthcare as relevant to them and their lives

Ask questions, take part in live Chats, and Vote for their favourite team of healthcare workers to win £500!
